Liberals Declare Constitutional Issue Must Be Settled

CANADA IS NOW STATED TO HAVE ONE-MAN RULE

Liberal Headquarters in Ottawa Declare Canada at Present Either Has No Government at All or a Government Composed Only of Meighen; Commission to Examine Acts of Meighen Administration Is Proposed

Ottawa, July 7.—Liberals are preparing to press their campaign on the constitutional issue. If returned to power in the forthcoming federal general election they will have, it is understood, two proposals in view.

First, a fall session of Parliament for the voting of supply.

Second, the appointment of commissioners to examine the constitutionality of the acts of the Meighen administration.

The constitutional question, it is expected, will be the keynote of the Liberal campaign. Liberal headquarters here issued a statement this afternoon declaring Premier Meighen "constitutes now all that can be designated as the Government of Canada in whatever pertains to Canada's domestic, inter-empire and international affairs and responsibility. As far as Ministers sworn to administer the several departments of the Government are concerned, he is the entire Cabinet, the sole executive, the sole administrator of all the departments of state, in a few days he will attempt to carry on the business of the country, not with money appropriated by Parliament for the public service, but by Governor-General's warrants, which he will demand from the representative of the Crown."

The statement adds that either there is in Canada no Government which will be recognized as such by British constitutional practice, or the Government is a one-man Government, "carrying on with such expedients as he himself is devising."

H. BOURASSA STATES BYNG WAS WRONG

King Should Have Been Granted Dissolution, Says Late Quebec M.P.

Winnipeg, July 7.—At Manitoba Liberal headquarters here it is stated there have been instant demands from many sections of the Federal constituency of Portage la Prairie that Premier Meighen, former member for that seat, be opposed in the coming general election by a Liberal candidate. A decision will be made at a meeting to be held in the constituency, possibly next week. Mr. Meighen was opposed by a Progressive in the last election.

LIBERALS IN TORONTO

Toronto, July 7.—A Liberal candidate will be entered in every one of Toronto's nine Federal ridings, it was decided at a meeting here last night at which representatives of the Toronto Liberal Association drew up plans for the coming general election campaign.

R. S. WHITE CANDIDATE

Montreal, July 7.—"I intend again to seek the suffrages of the electors of Mount Royal at the forthcoming federal election," declared R. S. White, late Conservative M.P. for Mount Royal, when seen today on his return from Ottawa.

In some quarters it had been reported that Mr. White might be found running in Mount Royal.

ANNOUNCEMENTS SOON

Toronto, July 7.—The Toronto Mail and Empire this morning published the following special dispatch from its correspondent here in Ottawa: "Premier Meighen has made unusual progress in the work of forming his government, and your correspondent learns he has asked for the resignation of the new Conservative Cabinet will be announced before the end of the present week."

"Equally reliable information is to the effect that possible election dates have been narrowed down to within a few days at the middle of September. The date, to be finally selected this week, possibly will be Wednesday, September 15."

FUNDS TO BE PROVIDED

Ottawa, July 7 (Canadian Press).—Supply for Federal civil administration expenditures and other necessities will be made available by way of Governor-General's warrants without entailing inconvenience to the recipients. It was intimated in government circles here this morning. It is understood the intention is to have warrants issued monthly for such needs as are essential to carry on the affairs of the country.

The warrant for the first month's necessary supply, it is intimated, will be granted within a few days.

STATEMENT BY KING

Ottawa, July 7 (Canadian Press).—W. L. Mackenzie King again takes issue with Premier Meighen on the constitutional status of the present Conservative Government of Canada.

DEATH PENALTY URGED

Chicago, July 7.—Prosecutor Michael Romano today demanded the death penalty for Martin Durkin, charged with the murder of Edwin C. Shanahan, a federal agent, in the prosecutor's argument to the jury.

KING CANDIDATE IN PRINCE ALBERT

Liberal Leader is Expected to Stand in Riding He Recently Represented

Reported Date of General Election Provisionally Chosen By Meighen Cabinet

Ottawa, July 7.—Right Hon. Mackenzie King has been invited to contest Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, in the federal general election. He represented that constituency in the late House of Commons.

He has not yet accepted the invitation, but it is considered likely he will do so.

The date of the formal opening of his campaign has not yet been determined.

CABINET MEETS

Ottawa, July 7.—The Cabinet met today, but the session was productive of no announcement by the Premier. It is understood the date of the general election has been provisionally determined.

It is probable Mr. Meighen will announce his cabinet list after the election has been made public.

Winnipeg, July 7.—"The responsibility for any misapprehension entertained by the Governor-General as to what would be the attitude of myself and other Progressives toward the Prime Minister, and his 'Shadow Cabinet' must rest upon Mr. Meighen along with the responsibility for the dissolution of Parliament before the fruits of its labors in the past session were garnered," Robert Forke, late House leader of the Progressive group, said in a signed statement.

The statement denied any assurance of Progressives support of the new Meighen Ministry had been given either to Baron Byng or to Mr. Forke. Mr. Meighen before the latter was sworn in as Prime Minister. Mr. Forke said he had never been asked for such an assurance.

DESIRED LEGISLATION

After the new Premier was sworn in, the statement continued, Progressives in caucus passed a resolution for the guidance of Mr. Forke, setting forth their intentions towards the new Government, these being dictated by anxiety to preserve the status quo of the House of Commons. The Robb motion declaring the Government's conduct of business of Parliament unjustifiable was not contemplated at the time the resolution was passed, the statement said, but the argument in support of it convinced the majority of the group Mr. Meighen was not justified in carrying on.

BRITAIN IMPORTS MUCH COAL NOW

London, July 7.—More than a million tons of coal have been imported into Great Britain since the beginning of the coal strike on May 1. George R. Lane-Fox, Secretary of the National Coal Board, said today that the coal strike had been imported from the United States and the continent of Europe, and was brought into the country by private firms.

DANUBE RIVER LEVEL RISING

Belgrade, July 7.—The Danube and Drave Rivers continue to rise. Nevertheless, the flood situation seems to be improving. In view of announcement that traffic on the railway line from Belgrade to Nish will be established to-night.

Three persons were killed by lightning in the Vranja region.

COTTON MILLS IN LANCASHIRE CLOSING DOWN

London, July 7.—The London Daily Mail says almost complete stoppage of the Lancashire cotton mills is expected within a few days, owing to lack of coal supplies. Very few firms have another week's supply, and there is little likelihood of their getting more, owing to the miners' strike.

The coal strike has been in progress since May 4.

NEW RAILWAY DIRECTOR

Berlin, July 7.—Former Chancellor Luther has been appointed a member of the Board of directors of the German Federated Railways.

IRA DILWORTH PRINCIPAL OF HIGH SCHOOL

Well-known Local Teacher Appointed by School Board to Succeed Herbert Smith

Trained in Victoria Schools and Gained Honors in Universities

Ira Dilworth, M.A., popular member of the High School teaching staff, was last night appointed principal of that institution, to succeed Herbert H. Smith, who has resigned to take up other work.

The appointment was made on a unanimous vote of the city school trustees in special session last evening.

Mr. Dilworth is very widely known in this city, where he has a host of friends and well-wishers who will be glad to hear of his recent success. He trained in Victoria schools, and took honors in higher scholastic education at Canadian universities. While a member of the teaching staff of the High School he has been very prominently identified with the work of that institution both in the classroom and in the out-of-school hours of the students.

He graduated from Victoria High School and has taught there for the last ten years in English, French, and literary subjects.

EARLY HONORS

Mr. Dilworth is one of the few men in Western Canada to have achieved the scholastic feat of securing his Bachelor of Arts degree while still in his twentieth year. His academic work has been marked by success throughout. He has been mentioned a score of times as one of British Columbia's brightest scholars and a teacher of equal brilliance. Universities have offered him situations, but Mr. Dilworth has preferred to spend his time in Victoria, teaching in the school where he himself was educated and from time to time continuing his studies at Eastern universities.

Since his graduation from McGill some ten or eleven years ago, Mr. Dilworth has taught in Victoria High School almost without intermission.

OPPOSITION TO DEBT SETTLEMENT GROWS

Ex-Soldiers Plan Paris Demonstration Against United States Scheme

Paris, July 7.—Pressure was brought to bear on the Cabinet today to rescind its order forbidding the proposed manifestation by French war veterans next Sunday against the terms of the Washington debt agreement.

Jean Durand, Minister of the Interior, promised M. Rossignol, chairman of the National Union of Veterans, that he would take up the question with the Cabinet again.

M. Rossignol declared the veterans were not inspired by ill-will toward the United States. Quite the contrary, they intended to march in the greatest calm and lay flowers upon the statues of Washington and Alan Seeger, United States soldier-poet, and thus "touch the American conscience."

DETERMINATION VOICED

M. Herant, secretary of the Wounded Veterans' Association, declares the manifestation will be held regardless of the Government's interdiction.

The decision of the Cabinet to forbid the demonstration was made yesterday.

NEW MOVE TO WIDEN B.C. Fruit Market In Europe

Vancouver, July 7.—When British Columbia apples are sold to consumers in Great Britain at sixteen cents a pound, the growers receive less than one cent per pound, according to information brought to light by the Imperial Economic Committee in an investigation of British Empire foodstuffs within the British Isles. Recommendations were made for the improvement and development of that trade. These have attracted the widest attention, and Mr. Smith will elaborate on them in addresses he will deliver throughout the Province.

UNWILLING TO ACCEPT BIG GIFT; HON. E. LAPOINTE

Ottawa, July 7 (Canadian Press).—"I have never heard of it, and I authorize you to state that if it is true I would ask my friends not to do it," said Hon. Ernest Lapointe, late Minister of Justice, today in regard to a report that he was to be the recipient of a fund as a recognition of his services to the Liberal Party.

The amount mentioned in the report was $100,000. It was said the sum would be invested for the ex-minister, who, it was said, was not wealthy and was in poor health.

FLOODS IN MEXICO BRING FAMINE NEAR

Food Shortage Feared if Food Not Imported on Large Scale

Mexico City, July 7.—Rising flood waters today threatened Mexico City with complete isolation, and fear is expressed here the nation may face a famine or a food shortage unless large quantities of food are imported to replace the crops destroyed by the floods.

All railway tracks within fifteen or twenty kilometres of the capital were covered with water last night, and prospects are that train services between here and El Paso, Laredo and many interior points will have to be suspended.

In the state of Puebla, a cloudburst over the Malinche Mountain caused a torrent that dug a path fifteen feet deep and a mile wide and destroyed over a mile of railroad track.

Apparently there has been complete destruction of crops throughout the Mexican plateau and the loss is estimated at from 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 pesos.

MORE RAIN FELL

Mexico City, July 8.—Another heavy rainfall yesterday added to the flood difficulties in Mexico City's suburbs and the valley of Mexico. A fund is being raised through women's contributions in all parts of the country to establish the home industries at Leon, in Guanajuato state, which was especially hard hit.

ACCIDENT DELAYS LONG PLANE FLIGHT

Seattle, July 7.—Bound for San Diego, 1,200 miles away, on a non-stop flight, the PB-1, a United States Navy seaplane, hopped off from the Sand Point aviation field here early this morning, but when over Pillar Point, twenty miles west of Port Angeles, a broken oil line forced the plane down. The repair ship Medusa was ordered to aid the PB-1.

SALVAGED U.S. SUB IS AGROUND

New York, July 7.—The United States submarine S-51, which was grounded to-day between the Williamsburg Bridge and the Queen's Borough Bridge, in the East River while being towed to the navy yard here.

The S-51 had been raised by a salvage crew from the bottom of the sea off Block Island, N.Y., where she had been sunk months ago.

NEW WORKERS TRAVEL MORE SLOWLY NOW

3,000,000 Reach Work With Delays as Result of Subway Strike

Company Says 749 Motormen and Switchmen Working; Normal Number 736

New York, July 7.—More than 3,000,000 people in New York City have found their trips to and from business lengthened by anything from fifteen minutes to one hour because of the strike of 700 motormen and switchmen of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company's subway system. The subway forms a huge artery beneath the surface of Manhattan Island and enables people normally to move quickly from any part of the island to any other as the result of high speed express and local service in the four-track tubes.

The strikers are demanding wages of $1 an hour, a twenty per cent increase. In contrast with the number of strikers, however, only 749 motormen and switchmen are remaining at work.

The second day of the strike opened with the strikers claiming support of the motormen and switchmen on the elevated lines. Sixty elevated employees were said to have joined the strike during last night.

James Quackenbush, controller of the company had a total of 749 competent motormen and switchmen to operate the subway, compared with 736 who operate it in normal times.

EARTHQUAKE IN AUSTRIA TO-DAY

Vienna, July 7.—An earthquake today shook Lower Austria and caused heavy damage in Muerzschitz, near Mount Semmering. The shocks caused terror among the population, but there was no loss of life.

Advices from Upper Austria tell of flood damage with some loss of life. Numerous bridges and roads have been destroyed and large areas of agricultural lands are inundated.

ITALIANS TO EAT MORE POTATOES

Rome, July 7.—Substitution of Irish potatoes for spaghetti in the national Italian diet is one of several radical innovations from which Mussolini expects material results. The legislation is designed to bring about a decrease in the importation of wheat.

How Did You Look Fifty Years Ago?

Native sons and daughters of old time residents of the city will find an exhibit at the Fall Fair at the Willows, opening August 16, that will command their attention for hours. The family album of half the families of Victoria will be opened to the public in an exhibit by A. H. Maynard, pioneer Victoria photographer, for whom residents of the capital city have been posing for over half a century.

Portraits of well-known citizens as they looked anywhere from fifty to twenty years ago will be shown. Fort Street, Government Street, Yates Street and other downtown views of other days will provide a striking contrast when shown side by side with up-to-the-minute pictures of the same sections of the city as they look today.

"Thank you for the buggy ride" may be the latest song, but Mr. Maynard's pictures of the days before the automobile will show that it was once as common an expression as "Good morning." Ex-Mayor Hayward will learn how he looked thirty years ago when he faced the camera with his little brother Ernie. Other Victorians now nursing rapidly disappearing locks will see themselves as they looked with pretty little curls romping over baby brows. There are many other pictures which Mr. Maynard, who is believed to have the longest record in business of any photographer in Canada, will show which will prove of great interest to those who have watched Victoria grow in the last half century.

SUPREME COMMANDER OF UNITED STATES FLEET VISITOR HERE ON BOARD U.S. CRUISER SEATTLE

Notable List of Administrative Officers on Board Visiting Warship; Civil and Naval Calls to Be Made This Afternoon and To-morrow; Warm Welcome to Visiting Sailors

Her lean grey flanks turning the waters of the Royal Roads into a feather of white spray at her prow the U.S.S. Seattle, bearing Admiral Samuel Shelburne Robison, commander-in-chief of the United States battle fleet on board, slowed down off Ogden Point docks at 2 p.m. today while a salute of twenty-one guns rolled out from her side.

Gun for gun the shore battery of the Royal Canadian Garrison Artillery answered the salute. The U.S.S. Seattle then proceeded to berth at Pier 2, Ogden Point, and the customary shore calls were commenced.

CALL ON PREMIER

In the absence of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Admiral Robison paid an official call on Premier John Oliver. This afternoon he will receive a call from Commander Percy Selles, senior naval officer at Esquimalt, and will return the call after the return visit of Premier Oliver. To-morrow morning Brigadier-General J. M. Ross will pay his respects on behalf of the military forces here, and the call will be returned. To-morrow Admiral Robison will call on the civic authorities in a visit to Mayor Pendray, which will be taken in charge by representative committee of citizens under G. A. Bucklin, United States consul here, and will be feted and entertained for the duration of their stay.

BIG SLIDE ON C.P.R. EAST OF REVELSTOKE

Rocks, Mud and Timbers Cover Tracks; Trains Are Rerouted

Vancouver, July 7.—Carrying hundreds of huge boulders weighing two to three tons each, a veritable river of water, mud and big timbers is pouring across the Canadian Pacific Railway tracks near Lauretta, about sixteen miles east of Revelstoke.

The engine and four cars of a work train were swept from the tracks to the bank of the Illi-cillewaet River and another car is missing and is thought to have been buried under the avalanche. It is believed there was no one in the cars.

According to reports, there were two distinct snowslides, the first striking the railway tracks at 10 o'clock last night and the second early this morning.

TRAINS REROUTED

Thousands of tons of wet snow moved down the mountainside with a reverberating roar, covering the tracks with six to eight feet of water for a distance of about 700 feet. A portion of the tracks was washed out, necessitating a rerouting of trains. Telegraphic communication was temporarily discontinued.

Crews were rushed to the scene to clear the debris from the track.

The intense recent heat, coupled with the heavy rainfall, is believed to have caused the slides.

BRITISH ACT IS IN FORCE IN CANADA

Mr. Justice Martin Declares Administration of Justice Measure Applicable

Vancouver, July 7.—By a judgment today Mr. Justice Martin, in Admiralty Court here, declared the Administration of Justice Act, enacted by the British Parliament in 1920, was applicable to Canada.

The point is important for the reason that the judge concluded British legislation extending and amending the jurisdiction in admiralty of the High Court of Justice in England automatically, by virtue of the Colonial Courts of Admiralty Act, 1890, which was adopted in 1891 by Canada's Admiralty Act, similarly affected the powers of Canada's admiralty courts.

ARMY OF KING

It is the first reported judgment on the statutes in Canada, and it is believed, the first in the Empire on the scope of the Administration of Justice Act.

The Canadian-American Shipping Company Limited of Vancouver owned the British steamship Wornow, which was chartered to the British Admiralty Limited of London, to be arrested here April 30 last on a claim of $18,000 damages for breach of a charter party.

The case will now proceed to trial.

FIREBUG HUNTED IN KALAMAZOO

Kalamazoo, Mich., July 7.—State police joined local officers today in a firebug hunt, following the destruction by fire of the fourth Kalamazoo church in six months—the First Presbyterian, which burned early today.

The loss in today's fire is estimated at $125,000, bringing the total church loss by fire in the seven months period to nearly $400,000.

King Talks With Lord Willingdon

London, July 7 (Canadian Press Cable).—Viscount Willingdon, who is to succeed Lord Byng as Governor-General of Canada, was received by King George this morning. It is understood Lord Willingdon's recent mission to China in connection with the Boxer incident was the subject of discussion rather than his new Canadian appointment.

Monastir Editor Was Assassinated

Paris, July 7.—A dispatch from Belgrade to the Paris edition of The Chicago Tribune says Hadji Fovik, a newspaper editor, was shot and killed last night in a busy street in Monastir.

The editor was a leader of the South Serbian Nationalists. The police believe he was assassinated by Bulgarian or Greek propagandists.

Two passersby were wounded by shots. The assailant escaped.

ARMS COMMITTEE RESTS TILL AUGUST 1

Experts Discussing Disarmament Proposals to Meet Again in Geneva

Geneva, July 7.—The military committee adjourned to August 1, when it will continue its examination of the technical aspects of disarmament and study especially methods for limitation.

Mingled hopes and fears for disarmament characterized the adjournment.

The League of Nations signalled the recess by issuing an official communique summarizing the work achieved, but refraining from comment on predictions.

Despite the tense difference of opinion on important subjects, principally naval, it is expected further study will permit the experts to put their fingers on the difficulties and complications of disarmament, on which work will be actively resumed in the early days of August.

CONSTITUTIONAL QUESTION BIG ISSUE OF FEDERAL GENERAL ELECTION; DECLARE LIBERAL LEADERS

The statement made Monday night by that he describes as the "temporary Government" that the dissolution of Parliament last week was exactly the same as that prepared and proposed by Mr. King himself when he sought dissolution four days earlier is not true, says Mr. King. And, he adds, if it were true it would not alter the fact that it was Mr. Meighen's duty himself to advise the Governor-General, now that he had taken office.

The late King Government, says the statement, fully intended there should be dissolution after the proper prorogation declaration had been made before both Houses of Parliament and after all the usual formalities had been observed.

DESCRIBED AS PRESUMPTION
The statement made Monday evening of Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Acting Minister of Justice, dealt chiefly with the formation of the present Conservative Government and very little with the fundamental question of the appointment of ministers of the crown for the purpose of carrying on Government and administering public departments in accordance with recognized constitutional practice and law, says Mr. King.

It was "presumption," says the former Premier, for Mr. Meighen to continue to advise the Governor-General after the adverse vote in the House of Commons the night before. This "unwarranted violation of constitutional right, practice and law, if permitted to continue," says Mr. King, "cannot fail to undermine the whole fabric of constitutional government in Canada and the fundamental principles of self-government under British institutions in whatever quarter of the globe they may be held in honor to-day."

The "temporary Government," through one of its Acting Ministers, says Mr. King, has published a lengthy statement defending itself against the charge that dissolution without prorogation of Parliament, as affected upon the advice of the Prime Minister, was contrary to British and Canadian constitutional law and practice, and that as a consequence the validity of the proceedings are now open to question.

NOT ON OLD LAW
"The Government rests its case, not upon constitutional law or practice as established and set forth by all leading recognized authorities on parliamentary government in Great Britain and in the Dominions, but on what it alleges its predecessors in office intended to follow. The Government's position is set forth in the following paragraph in the statement of the Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Acting Minister of Justice, issued Monday night, and which appeared in the press yesterday:

"As respects the complaint by the Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King about the manner of dissolution of Parliament it may be stated the forms and procedure used followed precisely the same as those prepared and proposed by Mr. King himself just four days previously when he himself sought dissolution of Parliament."

"First of all, may I point out that if the above statement were true, it would be no answer to it or excuse for the illegal and unconstitutional course adopted by the present Prime Minister. From the moment Mr. Meighen assumed office the responsibility for tendering advice to His Excellency, the governor-general, became his own. My responsibility ceased the moment my resignation was accepted. If in any Parliament the advice tendered His Excellency by himself was unconstitutional or illegal, it became the duty of Mr. Meighen, the moment he accepted office, so to advise, and thereby save His Excellency, as the representative of the crown, from adopting a course with respect to the dissolution of Parliament that could be open to any question."

DECLARED UNTRUE
"But the statement that 'the forms and procedure used followed precisely the same course as those prepared and proposed by Mr. King himself just four days previously, when he himself sought dissolution of Parliament,' is not true."

"How, may I ask, is Mr. Guthrie able to say what forms and procedure I prepared and proposed? These were known only to my colleagues in the Cabinet and myself at the time of my several interviews with the Governor-General."

ADVICE GIVEN
"The legal and constitutional aspects of the procedure to be followed were carefully considered by the Cabinet, and in particular by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, then Minister of Justice, who advised very fully in the matter. When the draft Order-in-Council relating to dissolution was prepared it was accompanied by draft orders relative to prorogation, to the issuance of writs of election, and to the summoning of Parliament to meet at a later date. In all particulars, save the insertion of dates (for which blanks were left to be filled in the event of dissolution being granted) the draft orders were complete. Obviously, until it had been decided whether or not a dissolution would be granted by His Excellency, it was not possible to present to His Excellency the orders pertaining to prorogation, the issuance of writs of election, and the summoning of Parliament to meet at a later date."

"It was never contemplated that in the event of dissolution being granted it would not be preceded by prorogation. As a matter of fact, the procedure contemplated was prorogation in the regular manner by His Excellency meeting both Houses in person, the Speech from the Throne to make mention of the dissolution and the reasons therefor."

STATEMENT IN HOUSE
"Mr. Guthrie's statement continues: 'The effect of the dissolution on pending legislation, until it had been decided whether or not a dissolution would be granted by His Excellency, it was not possible to present to His Excellency the orders pertaining to prorogation, the issuance of writs of election, and the summoning of Parliament to meet at a later date.'"

"Here again the Government is entirely wrong in the assertion made by its Acting Minister of Justice," says Mr. King. "As proof of this, I would draw attention to a statement made in the House of Commons on Thursday, July 1, which statement was made in the hearing of my former colleagues and of the members of the Temporary Government present in the House, and was never called in question. This statement appears on page 445 of Hansard (unrevised edition), and is as follows:

"When I was counselling a dissolution, I never contemplated that the business of this session would end there. After discussing dissolution and obtaining a decision favorable to dissolution, my next step would have been to consider the time at which dissolution should be taken. I would have advised His Excellency to arrange immediately for the prorogation and in the Speech from the Throne to announce the dissolution. That is the manner in which it should be properly done. That is the only way in which dissolution at the moment should be thought of by any party concerned."

"It may be observed that this public statement of my position and of the constitutional position of the Government was before both the Government and the country at the time Mr. Meighen advised and obtained dissolution without having it preceded by prorogation."

DISSOLUTION QUESTION
"This much said, the real question with respect to dissolution remains. Was the course pursued by the Prime Minister in not permitting His Excellency to make the dissolution and prorogation Parliament prior to dissolution, at a time when both Houses were in session, not wholly contrary to constitutional usage and law?"

BOURINOT QUOTED
"Bourinot, the recognized authority on Parliamentary procedure and practice in Canada, says: 'Fourth edition, page 102: "The Governor-General will always be guided by British constitutional practice with respect to prorogation and dissolution of Parliament."

"(On page 103): "Parliament is dissolved under the Great Seal after having been prorogued to a certain day."

"(On page 104): "It is the rule in Canada, as in Great Britain, when Parliament is to be dissolved, to issue a proclamation for dissolution immediately or very soon after that of prorogation."

PRACTICE RECOGNIZED
"The British practice with respect to dissolution necessarily preceded by prorogation, when both Houses of Parliament are in session, is established beyond all question. The following sentence from Bourinot's 'Law and Customs of the Constitution' will suffice to summarize the position with respect to British constitutional practice as recognized and affirmed by all the leading constitutional authorities:

"(Page 12): "The dissolution of Parliament may be effected either by the exercise of the royal prerogative or by the efflux of time."

"When the King exercises his prerogative, he may do so in person, if Parliament is sitting, or if not in person, by royal commission."

"The usual practice, if Parliament is sitting, is for the King to prorogue it first, and then issue a proclamation."

"(Page 11): "Prorogation is effected at the end of a Session, either by the King in person or by royal commission. In the former case the King's commands are announced in his presence in both Houses by the Speaker of the House of Lords. In the latter, a like announcement is made by the Commissioners. The prorogation is to a specified date, but it may be necessary either to postpone or to accelerate the meeting of Parliament."

"So much for the constitutional position with respect to dissolution and prorogation."

LEGAL CONSIDERATIONS
"A word now as to the legal position. "The legal position, according to British practice, is summarized as follows in Anson's 'Law and Customs of the Constitution' (Page 74):

"Common law governs all that relates to the prerogatives of the crown. Its right is to summon Parliament and to dissolve it, and to do so either in person or by commission."

"As the right of the crown to open, prorogue and dissolve it (referring to Parliament), and to do so either in person or by commission is governed by common law, it follows, if unconstitutional or illegal methods are adopted with respect to prorogation or dissolution, that, in the language of Anson, such 'unconstitutional methods may affect the validity of any parliamentary proceedings or touch any public or private right.'"

TWO QUESTIONS
"Mr. Guthrie is correct when he intimates there are two distinct legal and constitutional questions raised by the action of the present Prime Minister—one with regard to the formation of the present Government and the other in regard to the dissolution of Parliament on Friday last. The major portion of Mr. Guthrie's statement is concerned with the former question and is comprised in a recital of communications from two members of the civil service of Canada, each of which communications pretends to deal with the fundamental question of the appointment of ministers of the crown for the purpose of carrying on government and administering public departments in accordance with

Shawnigan

Special to The Times

Shawnigan Lake, July 7.—The Elks Tennis Club of Victoria played a match with the Strathcona Club on Sunday afternoon on the Strathcona Links. The match was keenly contested, both teams making some brilliant play. The match was practically a draw which reflects great credit on the Strathcona club owing to their recent organization.

The visitors motored up from Victoria and were charmed with the beautiful setting of the Strathcona Lodge and the treatment received. Afternoon tea was served on the spacious veranda of the lodge and an appreciative audience witnessed the game. The first figure in the visitors' score.

The first of a series of flannel dances was held in the Strathcona Lodge on Saturday evening. Bert Whyte's orchestra of Victoria played the latest in dance music. The dance was well attended; parties motoring from Victoria and Duncan. The second flannel dance was held in the R.L.A.A. Hall on Saturday evening. The "Victory" orchestra of Victoria supplied the music. The dance was well patronized. The Summer visitors appreciate the efforts of the recognized constitutional practice and law.

UNUSUAL THEORY
"The theory that responsible government can be carried on in Canada, or, for that matter, in any part of the British Empire, except by ministers of the crown duly sworn into office is so repugnant to the whole conception of British parliamentary institutions as to be unworthy even of consideration; and yet that is the theory of government under which Canada is being governed to-day and has been governed (if the use of that word in such circumstances is permissible) ever since the last administration resigned office."

COMMONS RESOLUTION
"The communications from the Clerk of the Privy Council and the Deputy Minister of Justice quoted by Mr. Guthrie and which, besides the mark, they were read in the House of Commons and were before the members of the House of Commons on Thursday, July 1, passed the following resolution:

"That the actions in this House of Commons have been taken by the House of Commons in the House of Commons on the 29th of June, 1926, namely, the honorable members for West York, Fort William, Vancouver, Kelowna, and the honorable member for Halifax, are a violation and an infringement of the privileges of this House for the following reasons:

"1. That the said honorable gentlemen have no right to sit in this House, and should have vacated their seats if they legally held office as administrators of the various departments assigned to them by orders-in-council."

"2. That if they do not hold such offices legally they have no right to control the business of government in this House and to ask for supply for the departments of which they state they are Acting Ministers."

"By the adoption by the House of Commons of that resolution the Government of Mr. Meighen was defeated in Parliament."

"There were two very significant and pertinent features of this defeat. It was the first defeat any government had sustained in Parliament in Canada since Confederation, and it was a formal declaration by Parliament that the Government as constituted was illegal, invalid, and had no right to exist."

"The presumption of the Prime Minister thereafter to continue to advise His Excellency, and above all, under such circumstances to advise and obtain dissolution, which three days before had been refused by His Excellency to a government regularly constituted, which had been in office over four and a half years and in that time was never once defeated, constitutes a more flagrant violation of constitutional right and law than can be found in British history."

FABRIC UNDERMINED
"The continuance in office to-day of the Government thus defeated and voted out of existence by the House of Commons, and its presumption to enlarge its numbers and its powers and to continue to act as the Government of Canada, are an even more flagrant violation of constitutional right, practice and law, which, if permitted to continue, can not fail to undermine the whole fabric of constitutional government in Canada and the fundamental principles of self-government under British institutions in whatever quarter of the globe they may be held in honor to-day."

management to provide a week-end attraction for them.

Fishermen who patronize the lake will be pleased to learn that 40,000 Kamloops trout fry were deposited in the lake last week. The Malahat Board of Trade is responsible for this welcome addition. Syd Yates used his motor launch and Sam Finlay assisted in making proper distribution of the fry. Both gentlemen, members of the board, gave their services in the good work. The fry were placed where they would have natural protection and good results is expected.

Lawyers Are to Discuss Mexico's New Church Laws

Mexico City, July 7.—Fernando Noreiga, president of the Bar Association, has called a meeting of Mexico City lawyers to discuss the Government's religious regulations, including the question of whether they can be construed as infringing on the liberty of the press.

The new regulations, in addition to providing severe penalties for religious instruction in schools, prohibit sectarian publications from making any comment on or carrying any news of national political affairs. Senator Noreiga declared yesterday the regulations appeared to him contrary and contrary to modern theories of the punishment of crime.

Foreign Minister Saenz has refused to make any comment on the protest of the Pope against the Government's policy.

It is the opinion in well-informed circles that the Government will disregard the protest and the Government's policy will not be influenced by it.

THE NEW PRINCIPAL

THE TIMES CONGRATULATES MR. IRA

Dilworth on his appointment as principal of the Victoria High School. The position is one of outstanding importance in its relation to the welfare of this community, and Mr. Dilworth's qualifications are such as to justify the expectation that he will fill it successfully. He has youth, exceptional scholastic attainments, experience as a teacher, tireless zeal and is popular with both students and colleagues in the teaching profession. The responsibilities of the post are obviously onerous and perplexing, since there are nearly a thousand students whose characters and careers are being moulded and determined largely in that institution, and whose value as citizens depends to a great extent upon their progress there. High School students are old enough to realize that they also have responsibilities, no less exacting than those borne by their teachers; that they have reached a stage of development where they should be active instead of passive factors in the fashioning of their future places in life. If they do not realize this, they should not be there. Teachers can carry a student no farther than that student is ready freely to go. As Mr. Dooley once sagely remarked, "You can lead a man up to the university but you can't compel him to think." The nature of the new principal's task, therefore, will depend considerably upon the part played by the students themselves in their own vital interests. That he will receive the loyal and hearty co-operation of the staff of course goes without saying.

ISLAND BOARDS TO MEET

THERE ARE MANY SUBJECTS OF CONSIDERABLE importance to Vancouver Island as a whole which the forthcoming gathering of the Associated Boards of Trade at Alberni will be able to deal with. The future of Strathcona Park is a matter of vital concern and it follows that the delegates will put themselves on record as totally opposed to any public policy which may endanger its scenic beauties. It will not be very long before tourist travel to this Island will assume proportions that will justify considerable development along recreational lines. Prominent in those plans will be the conversion of Strathcona Park from its more or less virgin state into an organized attraction that will be capable of accommodating all who desire to visit it and holiday there. The Island Highway very naturally is always a topic of importance to the Boards of Trade. Upon its condition depends to a very large extent the amount of money which goes into the pockets of Island storekeepers and hotelkeepers. In a general way, moreover, this annual interchange of ideas between businessmen from the various communities is usually productive of good results.

"THE DIE IS CAST"

THE THEATRICAL APPEAL OF MUSSOLINI to the Italian people has enabled him to do many things with impunity which in other countries would have involved his speedy overthrow. He has suppressed constitutional government, prohibited free speech and the liberty of the press, resorted to violence against those bold enough to criticize him, shelled the King and proclaimed himself a modern Caesar with a true Caesarian contempt for all the concepts of liberty.

But he appears to have over-reached himself at last. He has commanded the Italian people to substitute potatoes for spaghetti as a national diet, to conserve the supply of domestic wheat. Right there he has given a mortal affront to his subjects; he has struck them in an extremely sensitive spot. If he had ordered them to follow him across another Rubicon or through the Alps; if he had prescribed the restoration of the manners and customs of Rome at the height of her imperial greatness even to the universal wearing of the toga; if he had even authorized a revival of the festival days with which the household of tutelary Roman divinities used to be honored to the accompaniment of gladiatorial contests in the Colosseum, there probably would not have been any fuss. But when he lays his iconoclastic hands upon spaghetti he enters the danger zone and is apt to raise another firm of Brutus, Cassius and Company with dire consequences. What would happen to some vaulting dictator in England if, for example, he proscribed roast beef and ordered corned beef and cabbage as a substitute? Imagine the fate of any ruler who forbade the use of porridge in Scotland. What an explosion there would be if the Government of the Irish Free State demanded that the people of Ireland substitute spaghetti for potatoes!

In the larger centres of the United States there is a vigorous rivalry between the aggressive Italian and Irish sections of the population, due mainly to conflicting political aspirations. They mix about as readily as oil and water. Hence, when Mussolini orders the substitution of potatoes, Ireland's national vegetable, for spaghetti he seems to add insult to injury. If he had prescribed almost any other substitute he might have got off with a reprimand, but he passed the limit when he said potatoes. We always have predicted that Mussolini would go beyond his depth. If he shall escape this time he will be greater than Caesar, Pompey and Cassius rolled into one.

HARD ON THE COMMITTEE

THAT EXTREMELY SENSITIVE YOUNG woman who is known to the tennis world as Suzanne Lenglen says she might have been spared the unpleasant incidents at Wimbledon if the committee in charge of the tournament had been made up of students of the psychology of young ladies.

This observation from the French star may cause those who arrange the various international sporting events in which women take part to ponder over regulations that may be applied to participants whose temperament may have to be a subject for treatment by a special handicapping committee. It would hardly be fair, for instance, to expect Miss Ada Mackenzie or Mrs. Hutchings to represent Canada in Great Britain, or in the United States, in a battle against some foreign contender for a golfing title who positively refused to play when the wind blew from the south-east or wept every time a mashie-niblick had to be played in a bunker with a north-west aspect. To forestall such developments it might be advisable for the Royal Canadian Golf Association to appoint a committee to collaborate with other corresponding organizations with the object of adding a number of "temperamental" or "sensitive" clauses to the rules which govern the royal and ancient pastime.

Of course it may be that players like those named, or Miss Cecil Leitch or Miss Joyce Wethered, or Miss Glenna Collett in the United States, would still prefer to take a chance with matters as they stand and just play the game and take victory or defeat as it comes along.

TAKING NO CHANCES

DURING THE RECENT GENERAL strike in Great Britain a number of people shook their heads and began to predict the transfer of the control of the great trades unions from the moderate leaders of the Labor Party to a band of irresponsibles who take their orders from Moscow. But there seems to be very little danger of anything of the kind taking place. If there was one man who did his level best to advise the workers in their own interests and in the interests of the country as a whole, that man was the Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, the general secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen and Secretary for Dominion Affairs in the Government of Mr. Ramsay MacDonald. This morning he received a vote of confidence from his organization as the result of a motion presented to the union's conference yesterday demanding his dismissal for his attitude during the strike. Only six delegates voted for the resolution! This is a striking tribute to Mr. Thomas as an official and a reaffirmation on the part of the railwaymen that they know when they are well off in the matter of leadership. The vote taken to-day, moreover, will be applauded by the general public of Great Britain. It means that a "safe man" will still wield his beneficial influence in the inner councils of a body which operates one of the country's most vital services.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

"WOBBLY" OR "WEMBLY"

From The Toronto Globe
"A bit wemby," it appears, is a Yorkshire expression, according to a correspondent of The Yorkshire Post. It is an old fashion to use the word "wemby" or "wembly," as usually spelled, as an adjective meaning much the same as "wobbly." It ought to take on a new meaning since the British Empire Exhibition.

THE LATE RABBI SAMUEL

From The Manitoba Free Press
The news of the sudden and unexpected death of Rabbi Herbert J. Samuel, who lived in Winnipeg for many years and lately removed to Montreal, will be regretted not only by the Jewish community here but also by Winnipeg people in general, for he was his own people in religious and other matters; he also took an active interest in the affairs of the whole community. He had been chaplain of the Canadian club, and was identified with the budget campaigns for the city's charities, and in other ways played his part in general community affairs. A special obituary notice for him, also was to remove any feeling of racial feeling between the non-Jewish people and those of his own race.

In a country which contains people of many different races, Rabbi Samuel set a fine example of good Canadianism, and the sudden termination of his career just when greater opportunities seemed to be opening before him will be generally regretted in this city.

COURTESY TO OUR NEIGHBORS

From The Seattle Post-Intelligencer
Now that attention has been called to the matter, doubtless our American autoists who cross the line to make trips into Canada will be a little more thoughtful to extend courtesy to the Canadian flag than they have been. We on this side of the line are ardent admirers of the Stars and Stripes, but we should remember that other nations are just as strong in their love and respect for their national emblems.

Many motorists display the American flag on their cars, and when they pass over into the territory of our northern neighbor still retain it, but often fail to fly the Union Jack as well. It is a praiseworthy trait, certainly, but courtesy to the other fellow, when traveling in the latter's territory, is equally desirable and should not be ignored or neglected.

When we cross the border into Canada, therefore, it is a mark of courtesy and kindly feeling, if we are flying the Stars and Stripes on our cars, to add also the Union Jack. It will make us none the less American, and on the other hand, will help to cement still stronger bonds of friendship between the two adjoining countries.

TAKE A RISE OUT OF HIM

By the Editor of the Register and Tribune Syndicate

This expression is variously used to mean the taking of undue advantage, the taking of one by surprise, or, frequently, the luring of another into a verbal trap which has been carefully laid for him. The saying originated in fly-fishing, where the fish, seeing the fly at the surface of the water, rises to seize the prize, and instead, is itself caught.

Canadian Questions and Answers

CANADA'S OLDEST HOUSE

Q.—What is Canada's oldest house?
A.—Canada's oldest continuously occupied house stands in the little village of Sillery, a suburb of the city of Quebec. The mansion, as it once was, is nearly 300 years old, having been built in 1627. The father and founder of Sillery, a great Frenchman of his time, a favorite of the French court, and for a long time a leading ambassador of the King, following which he took Holy Orders as a Jesuit, and thus become one of the early missionaries to New France.

CANADA'S EXPERIMENTAL FARMS

Q.—What experimental farms are there in Canada?
A.—Twenty-two experimental farms and stations are now being operated by the Canadian Government Department of Agriculture. They are situated at well-chosen locations in the Dominion and are utilized to the fullest extent for the study of agricultural problems pertaining to the territories which they respectively serve. These farms cover all the many and diversified phases of agricultural production, experimental, investigation and demonstration. The results of their work are carried closer to the farmer in some districts by means of the system of illustration stations located at strategic points in every province, while the interests of some of the more sparsely settled and less accessible areas of the Dominion are served by experimental sub-stations, which are really experimental farms on a small scale.

RULING AFFECTS PHYSICIANS
Lipsie, Germany, July 7.—The Federal Supreme Court yesterday revoked a ruling of the lower court whereby medical practitioners who acquired their degrees for titles abroad should not be allowed to use them professionally in Germany. While the lower court supported the contention of the Berlin Medical Society, the supreme bench ruled medical titles were valid in Germany if legitimately acquired.

NATIVE PLANT GARDEN IDEA GATHERS WEIGHT

Victoria and District Gardeners Foster Work of Collection at Beacon Hill

At a meeting of the Victoria and District Gardeners' Association held last night the report of a special committee on the proposed native plant garden at Beacon Hill was adopted. The meeting made provision to deal with the matter again at its September sessions. P. R. Leighton presided. The report contained a full summary of the suggested action in relation to the new garden as follows:

REPORT OF COMMITTEE

To the Victoria and District Gardeners' Association:
Your committee recommend that the association call a public meeting and lay before it the following plan:

The Victoria City Council to be asked to allocate to the garden that part of Beacon Hill Park on the north side of Goodacre Lake lying between the trails to Rupert Street and to the South Park School.

The City Council to delegate to the trustees of the garden the powers needed to enable the trustees to lay out, plant and maintain this area as a botanical garden devoted to the native plants and shrubs of British Columbia.

The trustees to have entire control over laying out, planting and maintaining the garden and the administration of all funds subscribed towards it.

The trustees to consist of one representative appointed by the City Council, one appointed by the City Council, one by the Victoria and District Gardeners' Association, and three representatives of the general public elected in the first place at the public meeting, subsequent vacancies among these three being filled by the trustees as they occur.

To enable a reasonably large area to be made ready for planting this winter and provide sufficient funds to start the garden in a way that will do credit to our City and our Province, will, in our opinion, require about $3,000. This amount the public should be asked to subscribe.

Many very generous offers to provide plants and shrubs have already been received by this committee.

If the City Council gives for the garden a site of unexcelled beauty, and if public spirited citizens give the money to make the garden and the plants to plant in it, and are ready to give their services to develop what will undoubtedly become an asset not merely to Victoria but to the whole Province, in our opinion the Provincial Government will be reasonably asked to make an annual grant sufficient to meet the cost of upkeep.

We suggest that a strong committee be appointed at the public meeting to petition the trustees in petitioning the Government for an annual grant of not less than $1,500. The same committee might assist the trustees to raise the public subscription.

The native plants of this Province, ranging from the luxuriant growth of the coast valleys up through the plants of the dry hills to the tiny "Alpines" that struggle for existence on the snowline of the Rockies, provide material for a garden of wonderful beauty, and immense scientific interest. In Beacon Hill Park we have a site surpassing in natural beauty even the famous Kew gardens. If we make a good start now on plans for the garden, we can have a beautiful garden in the years to come, we can have and soon shall have a Provincial botanical garden that will be a joy to beauty-loving citizens, an educational asset of great value to our schools and colleges, and a tourist attraction that will draw to Victoria visitors of all kinds from all over the world.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor has expressed his approval of the proposal to establish such a garden and the following organizations have appointed delegates to represent them at the public meeting when called. The Natural History Society, the Native Sons of Canada, the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club, the Kiwanis Club, the Gyr Club, the Kumtaka Club and the Real Estate Board.

Your committee recommend that the following organizations also be asked to send delegates: The I.O.O.F., the Knights of the Round Table, the Victoria and District Teachers' Association, the 107th Club, the Can-

And that invitations to be present at the meeting be sent to the following: The Premier, the Minister of Education and other Ministers, the mayors, councillors and school trustees of Victoria and adjacent municipalities, the principals of the Normal School, High School, Victoria College, Oak Bay High School, University School, Brentwood College and Shawinigan Lake School.

BY-LAW DUTIES WOULD TIE HANDS OF CITY MANAGER

Utility of a Consultant Official Without Power to Act Would be Greater

With the by-laws of many Canadian and United States cities before him, providing for the duties and appointment of a city manager, City Solicitor H. S. Pringle is at work on the rough draft of the by-law which will go before the municipal committee of the City Council on Friday. In his search for data Mr. Pringle has obtained copies of the managerial ordinances from Brantford, Chatham, Newark, Dayton, Colorado Springs and many other communities where the city manager form of government has been tried out. All by-laws take the same general form and all of them limit the duties of a city manager to strict boundaries.

As opposed to a city manager clause by clause, and limiting that official, if appointed, to the strict wording of the by-law, the alternative view of the question is to try to make an official with unlimited scope but without power to act is gaining favor.

Such a consultant could oversee every department of the city services and make recommendations to the council, leaving any action taken within the hands of the elected representatives of the city.

A city manager as a consultant official without power to act or a city manager with strictly defined powers and power to act are the two phases of the question to be fought out by the committee before it makes its report to the council.

The ultimate object of the committee's work is to prepare a by-law in some form that may be submitted to the electorate, presumably at the general elections, and the committee is in response to a petition signed by a large number of ratepayers, calling for a vote on the plan.

WIDER CHOICE FOR OAK BAY STUDENTS

Commercial Course Added to Curriculum of High School This Year

A complete three-year commercial course has been approved and adopted by the Oak Bay School Board for the beginning of the next term. The course includes bookkeeping, shorthand, typewriting, arithmetic and all other work associated with commercial subjects, approved by the Board of Public Instruction.

By means of a questionnaire which was circulated among the ratepayers, it was decided that a technical course would not be adopted. There will be the commercial and arts course optional for entrants into high school.

There will be but slight increase in school expenditure owing to the additional course at the school, it has been announced, and the teaching staff will not be greatly affected.

Action on the part of the board eliminates the necessity of parents of the municipality sending their children to Victoria private schools or to the Victoria High School for instruction in commercial studies. V. I. Kirchin has been appointed to the staff of the high school to handle the commercial subjects. Miss Gwen C. Gillis will succeed Miss Maxwell and the old staff will remain unchanged in other directions.

SOLID B.C. MINING PROGRESS WANTED

Minister Tells Men of Industry Overdrawn Reports Hindrance to Province

Nelson, July 7.—At the closing session of the International Mining Convention here this morning, Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines of British Columbia, in the principal address of the three days' sessions, stated that in consequence of the great movement in British Columbia mining, "men of mining repute and men of no repute" were coming into the Province and making flounders. To keep down unprincipled flounders and to keep the name of the Province fair throughout the world was now a first duty of both the Government and all the citizens.

AGENCIES CLOSED

Scores of mining prospectuses had been changed in the last year, he said, to suit the Government's conception of what was fair protection to the investors, after the resident engineers concerned had passed on them. In four cases in the past year, the Minister said, he had used his discretionary power to advertise flounders as in the Government's opinion unjustified, ten sales agencies in Vancouver closing their doors the day one of these advertisements appeared.

"Believe me, the effect of this was salutary," he said. "Our course found approval throughout the mining world."

He declared the Government stood firm on the policy laid down by a former Premier, Sir Richard McBride, that the mining laws of British Columbia should not be

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Victoria Life Underwriters' Association picnic, set for July 14, has been postponed owing to the illness of Herbert F. Shade, at whose Summer cottage the event was to have taken place.

Charged with breaking and entering, W. W. W. was arraigned before Magistrate Jay in the City Police Court this morning accused of having attempted to rob the premises of the G.W.V.A. at 2200 Johnson Street, on or about June 26 or 27. He was remanded until Friday.

Rev. J. T. Hill, M.A., D.D., the preacher from Arkansas, again drew a large, appreciative audience at the Centennial United Church to hear his address, "The Emptying of the Tomb." Mr. Hill believes in faith healing but deprecates the sensational methods adopted by some of his followers. To-night his subject will be "Christ's Ambassador."

The Municipal Band, performing at Stadacona Park at 7 o'clock this evening, will offer the following programme of music: March, Territorial; Blakenburg selection; Rose Marie; Friml; valse, Nights of Gladness; Ancliffe; Parisian sketches; (a) Demoselle Chic, (b) Bal Masque, Fletcher; overture, Mornington; Noni and Night; Suppe; selection, 11 Trovatore, Verdi; popular fox trots, (a) Hi-Ho the Merrie, (b) In My Gondola, Conrad; intermission, Shadowland, Gilbert; selection, Furs and Frills, Hein; march, Trafalgar, Zehle.

Three teachers in latin and mathematical subjects were last night appointed by the school board for the High School, Ernest A. Boxall, B.A., M.A. (Oxon); H. R. Sharpley, B.A. (Manitoba), and J. G. P. MacLeod, B.A. (British Columbia), were selected by the board for the High School appointments. The trustees decided to offer a position in English and literary subjects to a young lady teacher not resident in the city, but who has very high qualifications. Kenneth Waites was appointed as a teacher in the grade schools of the city.

The School Trustees last night took occasion to advance plans in connection with a reorganization of teaching arrangements at the High School. A vice-principal is to be appointed who will have special duties outlined by the board. Other changes to be brought about are the naming of heads of department and the choice of dean to direct the activities of the girl students. These and other innovations follow a report to the board by the principal, Mr. W. A. Dwyer, who has been carrying out the new principal, will be called into conference to assist the trustees in their deliberations.

RAIL BOARD HEARS B.C.'S RATE CASE

At Vernon McGeer Argues For Ending of Mountain Scale of Charges

Vernon, July 7.—What is finally expected to be the final knockout blow against the mountain scale of railway freight rates, which ever since Confederation has imposed the highest railway tariffs in Canada upon British Columbia shippers and consumers, was delivered with great force to-day by G. G. McGeer, K.C., counsel for the Provincial Government, at the opening of the British Columbia sittings of the Railway Commission in the Vernon City Hall.

Summarized the new submission made by Mr. McGeer to-day was as follows: 1. Mountain scale rates, claimed by the railway companies to be necessary to cover excessive costs of operation in mountain territory, have in reality been utilized to extort profits of from 100 to 400 per cent over the actual cost of operation.

2. Not only, therefore, is the mountain scale a discrimination against British Columbia transportation users, but it is unjust and unfair in itself.

3. The railway companies have put in false and misleading statements to the board as to their costs of operation.

4. Even on these incorrect statements, which, he declared, obviously did not err against themselves, the railways were making exorbitant profits in the hauling of grain to Vancouver and on the hauling of lumber, rice, sugar, paper and other British Columbia products to the prairie consuming centres.

5. Operating surpluses of both railways had steadily increased since freight rates began to be reduced in the West five years ago, until in 1925, when the rates were at the lowest level since before the war, the railways had the best year in their history.

6. Grain constitutes fifty per cent of the traffic on western lines, yet on the low Crown's Net Pass rates, said by the railways to be ruinous to their profits, the Canadian Pacific Railway western lines in 1925 made a sufficient surplus to offset a bad year in the East and the C.N.R. for the first time in its history made an operating surplus on its western lines.

In working out his submission as to the profits made by the railways in mountain territory, Mr. McGeer used figures supplied by the railway officials themselves. Hitherto the companies have always insisted they could not give the cost of hauling a particular commodity.

Four Times On Verge Of Defeat, Locals Win

Gordon and McCallum, British Columbia Doubles Champions, Defeat Bob and Dick Hoogs, of Seattle, in Thrilling Three-set Doubles Match

To-day; Hocking and Annett Beat Bates and Gunn and Scott Is Given Run by Geoff Peers

Marsh Gordon and Eric McCallum, British Columbia doubles champions, had the fight of their lives to stay in the running for the Canadian men's doubles championships this morning. Four times during the final set they were within one point of being beaten, but the fighting spirit which saved them yesterday, pulled them through again, and they won over Bob Hoogs and Dick Hoogs, Seattle, by 6-4, 5-7, 10-8.

The first two sets of the match were decided yesterday, and the players were in the wind and darkness. McCallum and Gordon called it off owing to the wind and darkness. McCallum and Gordon were within a point of being beaten when they rallied and squared the match. The third set was wiped out and the players started over this morning. The deciding set was featured by the hard hitting of the Seattle boys and the accurate lobbing of the locals.

ELIMINATE OUTSIDERS

"Bud" Hocking of Victoria and Annett of Seattle pulled off a mid-air surprise in the men's doubles this morning when they accounted for Wallace Bates of San Francisco and Gunn of Toronto. The first two sets were played last night but the third was held over until to-day to provide better light.

The third set found both pairs in fine fettle and there was plenty of spectacular play. The score stood 5-4 with Annett's service coming up. The winning point was scored when Hocking took the net and dropped the ball just over. Both Bates and Gunn were caught flat-footed, being on the baseline and had no chance to recover.

McMASTERS WINS AGAIN

McMasters of Vancouver cut down another American star in Honsberger of Oakland, but he required three sets to do the trick. McMasters won the first 6-2, but Honsberger's fine placing brought him through the second set 7-5. McMasters, however, had the reserve to win the deciding set.

Aikman of Montreal had a real match on his hands with Westwood of Vancouver, but he pulled through in two sets. Aikman, who was kept in the running by defeating Kline, 6-1, 6-0. "Marsh" Gordon of this city won a good match from Meredith, also of Victoria, by 6-2, 6-4.

SCOTT TESTED

Scott of Tacoma came through his first real test in the men's singles by beating Geoff Peers of Vancouver, 6-4, 3-6, 6-2. Peers started off in great style and took three straight games in the first set, returning a low ground ball which Scott kept hitting into the net.

Scott, however, was a good match out the first set, losing but one more game. In the second set Peers placed well and prevented Scott from ailing him with his terrific service.

PORTLAND WINS POLICE SHOOT FOR TEAM WORK

High Scores Registered by Seattle, Vancouver and Victoria Men in Contest

Portland carried off the honors in the five-man team pistol shoot held at the Royal Canadian Mounted Police barracks this morning, with high place at 828 points. Seattle was runner-up with 768 points. This was one of a seven-match shoot of visiting and local police and naval teams.

In match two, three-men teams at running target, Vancouver City police won with fifty-five points; the Royal Canadian Mounted Police runner-up with fifty-four points.

In match three, highest individual score from B.C. entries, J. S. McLellan, Vancouver, won with forty-four points, and T. H. Rasmussen, Victoria plain clothes force, took second with forty-one points. The winners received gold and silver medals respectively.

In match four, six shots deliberate fire for U.S. and Canadian entries, M. C. Short, Seattle, won with fifty-two points, and S. H. Jorgensen, Seattle, runner-up with fifty points.

Match five was not fired as there were no entries from the banking institutions asked to take part in the contest, which was to have been six rounds deliberate fire.

In match six, three-men teams at running target, the Royal Canadian Navy entry won by default with seventy-three points, no other teams competing.

The last match of the morning, match seven, was won by A. Wilkinson, of the civil staff at the Navy Yard, with twenty-four points.

Detective J. H. Rogers, Victoria, won the highest individual prize of Victoria police entries, with 214 points in the aggregate.

TEAM HANDICAPPED

Portland entered to-day's contest seriously handicapped. One member of the Portland team, Detective Robert H. Craddock, for many years high gun man on the squad, lies seriously injured in St. John's Hospital, Port Townsend, and the wife of the team captain, Chief Inspector John T. Moore of the Portland bureau, is in a critical condition, the result of a disastrous auto spill Monday afternoon on the Hood Canal highway, in two-fifths mile south of Port Angeles.

SQUAD UNNERVED

The remainder of the team, Detective Glenn Howell, Sergeant J. H. Young and Patrolmen C. F. Shaylor, C. B. Maxwell and George Marshall, were considerably unnerved by the tragedy, and before the team shot that their shooting aim was probably not as good as it might be.

The accident was one of the most serious reported in recent months to Port Angeles, which is a town of 1,500 people.

Traveling at an average rate of speed, the heavy automobile of Captain John T. Moore suddenly went into a skid in loose gravel on route to Port Angeles, and before the team commander could stop it, had climbed up a steep embankment rising abruptly from the right side of the road, and toppled over on the occupants.

Mrs. Moore and Detective Craddock were dragged under the heavy vehicle.

Mrs. Moore sustained compound fractures of the right leg and wrist, a broken left jaw, and serious internal injuries.

Detective Craddock sustained serious internal injuries, complicated by an abdominal malady of long duration.

Captain John T. Moore, prominently identified with police work up and down the Pacific coast, sustained four broken ribs.

Mrs. Craddock, fourth member of the party, escaped with a badly sprained right knee.

The Victoria Police sports are being held this afternoon at Royal Athletic Park.

mission. Except for the periods when he was pursuing academic work of a postgraduate nature he has lived in this city. In 1915 he first became associated with the staff of the High School, where he taught in that institution until 1920.

FRESH FROM HIS LABORS at the High School, Mr. Dilworth plunged into academic work at Harvard in 1920, and continued his studies there for a whole year. At the end of that period he had won his Master of Arts degree. Again he returned to his school room in Victoria and until 1924 remained at his post. On his return from Harvard he joined the Victoria College faculty and taught English subjects to the undergraduates at Craigdarroch. There, as at the High School, he won instant popularity with the students and the respect and admiration of all who worked with or under him.

In 1924 Mr. Dilworth went back to Harvard. For another year he worked along the chosen lines of his career in research, and again came through with recognition and marked success. He has specialized in literary criticisms; particularly the Shakespearean plays, and has all the work leading up to it, and there remains only the writing of his thesis before he will receive his Ph.D. title, however, requires at least a twelve month period of research and library facilities are impossible to obtain except at the universities, and in larger centres than Victoria. Consequently he has not attempted to begin this thesis. That will be his next academic undertaking.

EARLY LIFE

Born in a little prairie settlement in Manitoba, Mr. Dilworth comes from old pioneer stock. His father fought in the first Riel Rebellion and

"But that seems to have been trifling or inconvenient to His Excellency and his pseudo-ministers. They found it more convenient to bolt the door, to remain masters of the place."

It was through the consul of an Asiatic country, Mr. Bourassa says, that he, a member of Parliament, was informed of the dissolution.

"ELECTION AGENT"

Mr. Bourassa asserts the cooling of his anger towards Parliamentary life has been aided considerably by the spectacle of "a general of the Empire constituting himself the double election agent of an artful little barister" from the Canadian prairies.

He draws several parallels and declares Mr. Meighen "resembles rather Robespierre than either Cromwell, Napoleon or Mussolini, but in principle" he finds Mr. Meighen's acts Cromwellian without the force of Cromwell.

CABINET POSSIBILITIES

Toronto, July 7.—An Ottawa dispatch to The Toronto Star says it is rumored in the capital that "Hume Cronyn of London, Ontario, will become Minister of Finance in the Meighen Cabinet. ## MONTHLY MEETING OF FRIENDLY HELP

Fewer Families Required Assistance During June

The regular monthly meeting of the Friendly Help Association was held at the rooms, Market Building, on Tuesday, July 6. Mrs. William Grant, first vice-president, occupied the chair, and there were fifteen members present.

The secretary's report showed considerable improvement in conditions, only ninety-one families representing 338 persons receiving assistance during the month of June, these being chiefly aged or sick people, and deserted wives and families. Of the ninety-one cases receiving assistance, forty-three of these were families, six were widows without children, four deserted wives without children, five deserted wives with children, twelve aged couples, twelve lone men, one woman, one widow with children, and three families from the outside who only got clothing. Many of these cases, it should be noted, only received milk daily.

Although the general work is lighter, there are still many serious cases to be dealt with and most interesting discussion took place regarding these problems, and in a few cases a solution was formulated. The Friendly Help will convene the taggers for the Market Building on Saturday, July 10, for the Tuberculous Veterans' Association. Very grateful thanks was expressed at the generous response which followed the recent appeal, made through the newspapers, for mattresses. The separate acknowledgments will be made in the July report.

The Friendly Help Association acknowledges with grateful thanks the following donations received during the month of June:

Cash: The City Gospel Friend, A. Friend, J. D. Virtue, Mrs. Weller, Mrs. Gill, Mrs. John Galt, Outer Wharf Grocery, John Webster, Dingle and Priebe, D. Christie, V.I.M. P.A., Kirk Coal Company. Clothing: Mr. Double-Barrel, Duncan; Mrs. Yarrow, C. Dupont, Mrs. E. M. McNeill, Mrs. Hawkins, Sooko; Mrs. Darnell, Mrs. Mountford, J. D. Virtue, Mrs. G. J. Salmon, Mrs. Kenway, Anon, Mrs. Cowan, Mrs. Cornwall, Mr. Lowther, Mr. Sutcliffe, A. Friend, flannelette blankets; Mrs. Winterbourne, Mrs. Montgomery, Miss M. Galt, Mrs. Deason, Mrs. C. M. Johnson, Miss Herbert, Mrs. Colbourne, Maynard's Shoe Store, shoes; Mrs. Walter Walker. ## Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

A baby of thirteen months should be weaned.

Little mother writes: "My baby is thirteen months old and is not yet weaned. Do you think it would hurt the baby or me if I should go in swimming? Would it cake the breast?"

"My baby is mischievous and crawls around and gets into everything. Daddy says she should be spanked, but do you think she is old enough? If not how can I manage her?"

Answer: The baby should have been weaned entirely by the tenth month and you are making a great mistake to continue nursing now. Get the baby weaned and then go in swimming. The danger usually lies in getting some infection from the water.

We disagree badly with Daddy. Instead of spanking his wee child, which would teach her nothing at all, let him busy himself making a nice, smooth wooden pen to keep her in when she is crawling about. She can be as active as she pleases in an eight by eight foot pen, either outdoors or near mother, and she won't hurt herself or get into mischief.

Mrs. E. C. writes: "My baby holds his breath when hurt or angry. The doctor says to give him a smart slap with a wet rag when he does this but it does not break him of holding it."

Answer: Sometimes babies cannot help this habit due to a weak heart; or an enlarged thymus gland. The effect of the slap is to distract the baby's attention and make him cry out and stop holding his breath. It is not effective I should avoid getting him hurt or angry and look to the above for the cause and cure.

Big Guns Fired First Volleys In Canadian Tennis Tournament

Bates, Scott, Turrene and Rennie Win Their Singles Matches at Willows Courts, While Hoog Brothers, of Seattle, and Their Opponents Provide Best Tennis of Day; McCallum and Gordon on Point of Defeat When Rally Gives Them a Life; T. O. Ryall's Back-hand Outstanding

All the big guns were in action in the second day's play of the Canadian Lawn Tennis championships at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club yesterday. Wallace Bates, of San Francisco, 1921 Canadian champion, arrived on the boat from California in the afternoon and immediately adjusted his land legs in a mixed doubles event which he and his partner, Mrs. Leachman, of San Francisco, won. Bates also played his first singles match and won without taking off his sweater. Bates did not extend himself at any time, using his matches as a process of limbering up.

Wally Scott, of Tacoma, who was runner-up to Willam Crocker, of Montreal, last year, also stepped into the picture and showed all of the form which made him so formidable last year. His victim was Dr. Dunworth, of Edmonton. Scott's fast-breaking service and his volleying and driving held the eyes of the spectators.

CUNNINGHAM SURPRISES

Leroy Rennie continued his victorious march in both the singles and mixed doubles, while Alkman, of Montreal, made his debut in the singles and showed plenty of class, winning easily. Alkman, also paired with Garrett, the Canadian veterans champion, to win his doubles match handily. Walter Martin, of Regina, eliminated Quillian, of Seattle, a player of much experience, which further emphasizes the fact that the runner-up in the Canadian junior championship last year must be counted on in the singles. McGill, of Seattle, P.N.W. champion, were not forced to win their matches, while Gerald Cunningham, of Victoria, surprised the gallery by his two-set victory over Gilbert Nunn, of Toronto. Nunn only took three games.

MARJORIE WINS EASILY

Miss Marjorie Leeming, the Canadian ladies' champion, had her first match, and she won without much effort. Miss Munro and Miss Gillespie, the two Vancouver ladies champions, also won their matches, while Mrs. Bourque, the Edmonton star, played her usual dashing game and won. Miss Saeger, of Montreal, was another easy winner, and is favored by many to be at least a semi-finalist.

The outstanding singles matches resulted in the two Hoogs boys of Seattle being on the losing end, Bob losing to T. O. Ryall of Vancouver by 6-2, 6-3, and Dick dropping his match to Leroy Rennie of Toronto by 8-6, 6-4.

The match between Ryall and Hoogs produced the best tennis of the season so far. They played a hard baseline game, volleying with great speed. Ryall's backhand was outstanding and turned the first game in his favor. Hoogs won the first game in the second set but Ryall took three in a row and assumed the mastery.

Rennie was extended to turn back Dick Hoogs. They won their own services until the twentieth game when Rennie broke through on Hoogs and then captured his own service.

In the second set Rennie won two games in a row and appeared to have Hoogs in a corner, but at about the halfway mark, Rennie made some brilliant placements and won on the tenth game.

Baynes of Winnipeg passed out of the men's singles when Annett of Bombay, India, beat him. Baynes made a fight of it in the first set but lost the second six-love.

The Ryall brothers of Vancouver lost a hard three-set doubles match to Milne and McLean, Vancouver. The match was featured by brilliant rallies. The scores were 7-5, 2-6, 6-4.

Bob and Dick Hoogs, teamed up in the men's doubles and were within a point of defeating Gordon and McCallum, Victoria, B.C. doubles champions. The local players took the first set 6-4, and a hard rally brought the Seattle team through the second set, 7-5. In the third set the Hoogs brothers were leading 5-4, with the failed to get the point that would have brought them victory. Gordon made an ace off the back-hand and McCallum delivered three back-hand smashes that could not be reached to win the game, and even the score at 5-all. Owing to the falling light it was agreed to call the game and the third set will be replayed to-morrow.

Twenty-six Teams Enter Cheylesmore Shoot at Bisley

Bisley, July 7 (Canadian Press Cable)—The third day of the National Rifle Association's annual meeting was favored with good shooting conditions. To-day hundreds of public school boys were firing in the Gale and Polden Service Rifle Competition, which is a preparatory event for the Ashburton challenge shield, which will be shot to-morrow.

Twenty-six teams are entered for the Cheylesmore Memorial, the principal event at Bisley to-day, a rapid firing affair with ten shots at 250 yards.

The prize list for the Queen Mary prize, in which C. H. Church and Lieut. A. G. Rumbelow tied for first place, was issued. Lieut. Burke, Ottawa, was twenty-eighth, winning 22.4. Sgt. McGregor, Ottawa, was ninety-seventh.

"Just a Sensitive Girl," Says Suzanne, Explaining Mistake

French Star Says She Was Not Understood by Wimbledon Tennis Committee

London, July 7.—Suzanne Lenglen is "just a sensitive girl" who might have been spared recent unpleasant incidents at Wimbledon, if the tennis committee had been made up of students of the psychology of young ladies, the French star yesterday said just before leaving for Paris.

Discussing the events of June 23, when she failed to play her scheduled matches and the Queen of England and a large crowd waited in the stands, Mme. Lenglen explained that at first she was willing to play in her doubles match, but that after being scolded for not appearing for the singles match, of which she knew nothing, she was too excited, and upset to play at all.

"If only the committee were students of the psychology of young ladies," she said, "they would have told me to play my doubles and then scolded me when play was over, provided they did not take the course which—treating me as an ordinary competitor—they might correctly have taken, that is, of scratching my name."

"After all, I am just a sensitive girl, who tried to do my best in very difficult circumstances," she said. "Mlle. Lenglen, who was forced out of the Wimbledon tournament because of illness, said that she was undecided as to her future movements. She expects to go to Pourville to visit her father and to rest."

MAY GRAB MAX'S TITLE

One of the greatest youngsters to come into the big leagues in recent years is Hazen Cuyler, famous Pittsburgh outfielder. Cuyler joined the Smoky Town club late in the 1925 season. He's been going like a house afire ever since.

In his first regular season Cuyler hit over .350. Pretty good for a tot, all things considered. Last year he again topped the .350 mark. He also led his league in scoring with 144 runs. He was beat in smacking-out triples, too.

But for his famous team-mate, Carey, Cuyler would have the added distinction of topping the National wheel in base-stealing in his first two seasons. He finished second to Carey both times. And it wouldn't be surprising if the youngster takes the honor away from the veteran this campaign.

Norman Brookes Advocates More International Tennis Matches

San Francisco, July 7.—Norman E. Brookes, Australian tennis star of former years, not only believes tennis is the "greatest game in the world" but suggests more international competition in it as a means of further-advancing the friendly relations of the English-speaking people on both sides of the Pacific. Arriving here yesterday from Melbourne en route to New York on a business trip, he declared that international matches were to be greatly encouraged and that he was going to try to line up some of the better American players for a tour of the Antipodes.

JOE MCGINNITY AND WILTSE PITCHING IN OLD-TIMERS' GAME

New York, July 7.—Batteries McGinnity and Bowerman; Wiltse and Bresnahan.

These words from the umpire informed the world to-day that the old timers of baseball are back in togs. They turned out to honor their old team mate and companion, Christy Mathewson.

Christy died last fall as the world's series started and to-day his friends gathered here to raise money for a memorial.

The opposing teams included many stars of former days, among them Fred Merkle of "Beneath the Tumbleweed," Johnny Evers, John McGraw, Art Fletcher, Bill Gilbert and Arthur Devlin. The game was scheduled to go three innings, following the Washington Senators and New York Giants clash, in an exhibition tilt.

Spencers and C.P.R. Will Play For Right to Meet Sidney in Play-off

After many delays and postponements due to major attractions the Commercial Baseball League has finally secured the Royal Athletic Park for the play-off of the first half of the schedule. There are three teams in the running for the championship, Spencer's, C.P.R. and Sidney being deadlocked in a triple tie for first place.

Spencer's and the C.P.R. will provide the argument at the park to-night. The winners of this engagement will journey to Sidney on Friday to play the millmen for the championship.

To-night's affair should prove one of the most exciting of the season. The teams, two of the strongest in the league are very evenly balanced and with their star twirlers working out to annex the victory, the game will certainly have its high spots.

Harold Polherstone will get the teams into action at 8:30 o'clock.

DONALDSON VS. POLLARD

Dave Donaldson, Spencer's ace will take his usual place on the mound for the departmentals. Pollard will shoulder the burden for the rail-roads.

On Friday during the play-off game at Sidney there will also be an engagement in town. Prior's and the Tillcums will hook up at the park for the first game of the second half.

MRS. PHILBRICK WINS
The winners of the ladies' monthly medal competition of the Victoria Golf Club played yesterday were, in a class, Mrs. Philbrick, with a score of 81 gross, 75 net; and in B. class, Mrs. Marshall, with 88 gross, 78 net.

Great Gathering Of Golfers At Columbus For U.S. Open Title

All Representatives in the Blue Book of American Golf Ready For Play

Drenching Rain Caused Postponement of Amateur-Pro Match Yesterday

Columbus, July 7.—Rain yesterday drenched the Scioto Country Club course, where the battle for the national open golf championship will start Thursday, causing postponement of the annual amateur-pro baseball haphazard practice.

The amateur pro event will be held to-day. Bobby Jones, who arrived yesterday, is paired with Watts Gunn the other great Atlanta amateur, to go out against Walter Hagen and Willie MacFarlane, the present open titleholder.

THEY'RE ALL THERE
Virtually all representatives in the blue book of American golf were here last night, ready for the opening of the championship which will start Thursday. ## Jack Hobbs Makes Double Century In Exhibition Cricket

England's Premier Batter Repeats Brilliant Performance of Two Weeks Ago

London, July 7 (Canadian Press Cable)—To reach the double century mark twice within a couple of weeks, was the performance of Jack Hobbs, England's greatest batsman, when the game concluded at Southampton yesterday—a benefit for Kennedy, the well-known Hawks' bowler—his second 200. This followed his 261 against Oxford University on June 23 in the contest where he and Sandham created a new cricketing record by maintaining a first wicket partnership for 425.

Surrey's figure of 401 was secured at the expense of only two wickets, while Hampshire responded with 428, of which Bowler contributed 63 and Bruton 59.

Other results:
Worcester defeated Northants by 187.
Yorkshire defeated Kent on first innings.
Warwick defeated Somerset on first innings.
Gloucester defeated Leicester on first innings.
Lancashire defeated Sussex on first innings.
Derby drew with Glamorgan.

Col. E. R. Bradley, owner of Bagenbush, said to-day he would send both Boot to Boot and the Latonia Derby winner to the Washington Park course. It is doubtful if Bubbling will be a starter. The horse has been out of training and may be shipped from Latonia to Saratoga Springs.

Cleveland, July 7.—After breaking in the first two heats Hollywood Susan stayed on a trot and won the $2,000 sweepstakes purse of $2,000 for three-year-old trotters, feature of the Grand Circuit racing at North Randall yesterday.

In taking the third heat in 2:03 4-5, the Peter Volo filly clipped one second off the record for the stake, established in 1918 by Hollywood Bob, which, like yesterday's winner, was bred, owned and driven by John L. Dodge, of Lexington. Ben F. White, injured while working one of his colts last week, returned to the track today and drove his Charm to third money in the Fasig. Hollywood Susan broke soon after the start in the first two miles. White set the pace with Harris in fifth, but could not hold his advantage in the first when his filly went into a break a few yards from the wire, the heat going to Guy Dean. Charm took the second Dodge's filly being Derby entries.

Chicago, July 7.—The $100,000 American Derby, feature event of the new Washington Park race meet, yesterday was postponed from next Saturday until July 31.

Thomas E. Bourke, secretary and general manager of the Illinois Jockey Club, staging the meet, authorized the postponement upon recommendation of W. H. Hays, presiding steward, who said that present stable room is inadequate to care for the 300 horses expected to be shipped from Latonia, St. Louis and the East, some of them being Derby entries.

It was also explained that the track is not yet far enough completed to handle to advantage the large crowds expected for the running of the event. Hay recommended a two-weeks postponement but Bourke authorized a three-weeks delay.

By the time the Derby now is run, the dispute over whether betting shall be permitted may be settled. A hearing on an injunction to restrain Robert E. Crowe, representing the modified form of mutual wagering, to-day was continued until next Monday.

Crusader, considered by many the champion three-year-old in America and representing the East, will likely engage Bagenbush, the pride of the West, in the Derby.

Col. E. R. Bradley, owner of Bagenbush, said to-day he would send both Boot to Boot and the Latonia Derby winner to the Washington Park course. It is doubtful if Bubbling will be a starter. The horse has been out of training and may be shipped from Latonia to Saratoga Springs.

Joe Bush In Another Uniform Loses First Game To Chicago Cubs

Pitched Good Ball But Was Opposed to Blake Who Was Invincible

New York, July 7.—Joe Bush, the "Blake" of the world series of 1913 between the Athletics and Giants, has started his work as a National Leaguer. Bush, dropped by the Washington club recently, appeared on the mound for Pittsburgh against the Cubs yesterday in the first game of a doubleheader and encountered Sheriff Blake on one of the Chicagoan's best days. The result was a defeat for Pittsburgh, 3-0, with Blake permitting only four hits. But Meadows was even stronger in the second contest and gave the world champions a 3-2 decision.

The league leading Cincinnati Reds required eleven innings to defeat Grover Alexander, of the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-2.

Fothergill and Hellmann tried desperately to halt Detroit's losing streak, now run to five games, by hitting homers, but the St. Louis Browns won the game, 5-2.

FORKE NOT TO BE LIBERAL CANDIDATE

Winnipeg, July 7.—Robert Forke, late M.P. for Brandon and leader of the Progressive Party during the last session of Parliament, last night denied a report published here yesterday that he might run as a Liberal candidate in the forthcoming Federal general election. Reports had been that he would be offered the Liberal nomination in Brandon, or would not be opposed by a Liberal if he would caucus with the Liberal Party. Mr. Forke, after a series of conferences here yesterday, took occasion to deny any knowledge of such plans. He then departed for Brandon.

Like Clouded Jewels

Naturally pretty teeth are hidden by a dingy film coat

Don't hide yours any longer. Accept this remarkable dental test that restores "off-color" teeth to whiteness, and firms gums.

A new method in clearing up cloudy teeth, in giving "off-color" teeth an almost dazzling whiteness has been found.

Leading dentists urge it widely. For it protects the teeth and firms tender gums.

It works by removing a dingy film that forms on your teeth, and dulls them by absorbing discolorations from food, smoking, etc. A slippery film you can feel with your tongue; and that invites germ growth, decayed teeth and gum troubles.

Old-type dentifrices failed to remove it successfully. That's why brushing fails you.

Beneath it are the teeth you envy in others. One's whole appearance changes as clear, white teeth come.

INTERIOR OF SUN PRETTY HOT PLACE, TO SAY NO MORE

Centre Temperature is 70,000,000 Degrees, Cambridge Professor Finds

London, July 7.—The interior of the sun must have a temperature of 70,000,000 degrees Fahrenheit at the centre, which gradually decreases until it is only about 10,000 degrees at the surface.

That this is necessary to keep the sun at the size it is at present and to prevent the gravitating mass of the outer part from collapsing to the centre is the opinion of Prof. A. E. Eddington, Professor of Astronomy at Cambridge University, stated in a series of lectures at King's College of the University of London.

As a result of this conclusion, says Professor Eddington, "no source of energy is of any avail unless it liberates heat in the deep interior of a star." This, he believes, effectually disposes of an idea, suggested in the past, that the sun received its energy from meteors which fell into it from outer space.

"Clearly," he states, "you cannot maintain a temperature gradient by supplying heat at the bottom end. If this year the sun encountered a swarm of meteors which bombarded it with enough energy to furnish a year's supply of radiation that would not add a year, or even a day, to the life of the sun; its internal readjustments would go on unaffected."

"All that would happen would be that the sun would give us twice the normal amount of radiation this year."

CITES AGE OF SUN

The theory once proposed that the sun is gradually contracting and so releases the energy which forms its heat is also untenable, says the astronomer, because with such a theory the sun cannot be more than 46,000,000 years old.

"Physical and geological evidence seems to be conclusive," he says, "that the age of the earth—reckoned from a period which by no means goes back to its beginnings as a planet—is much greater."

The age of the older rocks found from their uranium-load ratio is generally put at 1,200,000,000 years; and certainly the sun must be older than this, says Professor Eddington, "we seem to require a time scale which will allow at least 10,000,000,000 years for the age of the sun; certainly we cannot abate our demands below 1,000,000,000 years."

"Since we cannot very well imagine an extraneous source of heat able to release itself at the centre of the star, the idea of a star picking up its energy as it goes along seems to be definitely ruled out."

STAR'S ENERGY LIMITED

"It follows the star contains hidden within it the energy which has to last the rest of its life. But energy cannot be successfully hidden; it betrays itself because it is (or because it is) mass.

"How much of the sum total of the energy of the sun is capable of being converted into radiation we do not know, but if it is all available there is enough to maintain the sun's radiation at the present rate for 15,000,000,000 years. To put the argument in another form, the heat emitted by the sun each year has a mass of 150,000,000,000 tons, and if this loss of mass continued there would be no mass left at the end of 15,000,000,000 years."

Since all the other alternatives are eliminated, Professor Eddington supposes that the source of the energy must be in the protons and electrons, charges of positive negative electricity, of which the atoms are composed.

"We have to suppose," he says, "that a proton and electron run together, their electric charges cancel and nothing is left but a splash in the ether, which spreads out as an electromagnetic wave carrying off the energy."

ADmits SOME DRAWBACKS
He admits the difficulty of some of these ideas, for apparently at a temperature of 70,000,000 degrees the energy is liberated so copiously that he asks, "Can we suppose that energy issues freely from matter at 70,000,000 degrees as steam issues from water at 212 degrees? I think that physicians would be hard put to it to reconcile such extraordinary behaviour with any accepted principles, yet that is what the astronomical observations taken at face value seem to insist."

In a reply to this suggestion Professor J. H. Jeans, president of the Royal Astronomical Society, denies that this can happen, for, he says, the transformation of matter to energy itself is a process which liberates more heat, and "as soon as the centre of a star reached 70,000,000 degrees the heat generated would rise the neighboring parts to 70,000,000 degrees, those would generate more heat, and so on, the high temperature spreading explosively throughout the star. The true analogy would be, not the issue of steam from water, but the extension of a magazine of gunpowder."

THESE WOMEN

By MALCOLM DUART

(Copyrighted)

The names and situations in this story are fictitious.

"Let's go to some queer place," she said. "I like to look at funny people—people who act outlandishly. Let's not go to one of the big places where you're bored!"

Morton gave brief directions to the chauffeur, and ten minutes later they arrived at a basement establishment. Its doorway illuminated by a lamp in a huge blue shade.

"This is a Russian tea room," Morton said, helping the girls to alight. The four of them descended the stairs, and were greeted by a youth in a yellow smock. His cheekbones were high, and his blond hair was erect in a stiff pompadour. They handed him their wraps, and followed him through a noisy throng to a table at the far end of the room.

Another man in a smock brought tea, and placed it before them.

Nona, while Morton ordered food, idly looked over the diners. Their party had attracted attention. They were the only guests in evening clothes, and Audrey dropped her eyes as she saw the stares directed her way.

Nona reached across the table and tapped her on the hand.

"Don't look now," said, quietly, "but in a moment, turn and see who is there at the second table. I'll tell you when!"

CHAPTER XXX

A moment or two later, Nona said: "Look now! Quick!"

Audrey looked, in the direction that Nona indicated. She saw a fat, heavy-faced man, sitting with a thin girl, who was lighting a cigarette.

"Who are they?" Audrey said, turning back to Nona. "I never saw them before."

"Why," Nona said, "I thought you met that girl! Anyhow, she's the girl from whom Joe gets his money. Joe's the fellow who tried to hold you up for a thousand dollars."

With a sharp exclamation, Audrey turned and looked again. This time the other girl's eyes were fixed on her, and there was a glint in them that was not to be mistaken. Audrey shivered.

"I believe that girl would stab me!" she gasped. "But how does she know who I am?"

Morton had been watching the little drama. "Not so hard to guess," he said. "You are with me, and with Nona. She knows us, and she has found out from Joe that I am your guardian. It's like adding two and two."

Nona was arising. "Wait here a minute," she said.

She walked to where the girl and fat man were sitting. In a moment she was leaning over their table. The girl looked up at her, in cold hostility. Nona began a monotonous, motioning toward Morton's table. The girl shook her head. Nona stooped down, and whispered to her. The fat man, after a moment's attempt, to listen philosophically poured himself a glass of liquor, and gulped it with an emphatic smack of his lips.

Evidently, Nona gained her point. With a few words of excuse to the portly man, the girl arose and followed Nona to Morton's table. Parrish arose, and offered his chair. The girl refused it.

"Nona says you've got some explanations to make, and I want them," the girl said. "I'm willing to listen to what you have to say."

"She's coo-coo," Nona confided to her companions, "but I brought her over anyway. Sit down!"

She pushed the girl into the chair, and herself sat down alongside. "She has the idea that Audrey is trying to take her Joe away from her!" she explained.

"Parrish, who had brought another chair for himself, let out a quick exclamation. "That is an absolute outrage," he said.

"Keep quiet, Parrish," Morton ordered. Turning to the girl, he went on: "Did this young man of yours tell you that he had tried to extort a thousand dollars from Miss Morton?"

"It's a lie!" the girl cried. "She just tried to frame him! He wouldn't fall for her, and she was trying to get even!"

Audrey was crushed. She buried her face in her open hands, and moaned: "This is terrible! It's awful!"

Morton touched her on the arm, and again addressed the girl.

"I see your point of view better than Miss Morton does, or Parrish here. No doubt Nona understands, though. You are very fond of this man, and believe that other women want him. You let him have your money, because you are attached to him, and want to believe what he says. Nobody that does anything against him is your enemy, too. Is that right?"

"You said something!" the girl returned. Her hostile eyes still were fastened on Audrey.

"I think you will agree," Morton continued, "that I have been pretty good to you, in a way."

"Good!" There was a bitter sneer on the girl's lips. "You pretended to be getting me a good job, in the show, because you were sorry for me! But I know! You were trying to get square with me for what happened in Nona's apartment, that time. You wanted to separate me from Joe, so this girl here could have him!" She pointed at Audrey.

Morton sighed, and shook his head. "It's hopeless, I suppose," he said. "You are so infatuated with this young fellow, that you twist every thing to suit what he says. We'll make a fresh start on this."

He leaned over, with his face close to hers, and tapped slowly on the table to emphasize his words.

"If you do anything to disturb Miss Morton, here, in any way, this man Joe of yours goes to jail."

The girl pushed back her chair with a jerk. "You wouldn't do that!"

"Certainly," Morton said. "He ought to be in jail anyway. But I'm simply giving you this warning—don't molest Miss Morton. You'd better go, now."

The girl arose, and, agitated, returned to her own table. The fat man greeted her indifferently, as she sat down beside him.

"The female of the species is more deadly than the male," Nona quoted. "Aren't girls crazy?"

"Poor little thing!" Morton said, thoughtfully. "That fellow misuses her, and robs her, and still she loves him! But if I hadn't made a threat against her young man's safety, I think she would have attacked Audrey at the first chance. Heaven knows what she would have done!"

Parrish, since Morton had adjured him to be quiet, had been restlessly moving his plate and silverware about, on the cloth before him. Now he spoke again. "We had no business to bring Miss Morton to a place like this!"

"My dear boy," Morton said, wearily, "we are going to meet people, no matter where we go. We can't wrap ourselves, or our daughters, or our secretaries, in cotton-wool, and expect to protect them that way from the world. Our only real protection is our own common sense."

"I would like to go away from here, though," said Audrey. "That girl over there, and the man with her, keep looking at me. Who do you suppose he is?"

"Oh, some mutt from out of town," Nona surmised. "She's being hostess this evening. He'll probably give her twenty dollars, for going out to dinner with him, and dancing with him afterward."

Morton paid for the tea that they had consumed, and told the waiter they would not want the borsch that he was placing before them.

"Let's go to a theatre, and find something to laugh about," Morton proposed, as his party filed up to the street level from the restaurant.

"Let's not," Audrey protested. "I've been scared, and worried, by that girl, and by her dancing partner, that I'd like to go home."

She turned to Parrish and Nona. "You folks won't mind coming up to the apartment, will you? We can have some music, and play cards or something. You'll forgive me, won't you, for not going to the theatre?"

"All right," Morton said. "We'll walk—it's a fine night, and we ought to enjoy it."

Nona had swung to Parrish's side. The young men turned, as if to accompany Audrey, but the latter had placed her hand under her guardian's arm. Reluctantly, Parrish moved forward, with Nona beside him. He held his head stiffly erect, and studiously avoided brushing her arm with his sleeve. She looked sideways at him, between narrowed lids. Then, deliberately, she thrust her arm through his. "Mr. Parrish, why do you hate me so?" she asked softly.

He shook his head. She waited for an answer, but he strode steadily on. "I've never done anything to you," she told him, clinging a little closer. "It's something I do not want to talk about," he said, austerely.

Morton, behind, had caught the words, and so had Audrey. He slackened his pace, so the other two could hear.

Uncle Wiggily and the Big Bang

Copyright, 1926, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Mr. Hare, Uncle Wiggily's cousin who had invited the country rabbit gentleman and his wife to visit the big city, stood laughing at Mr. and Mrs. Longears. Soon after arriving at the city house, as I told you last night, the hollow stump butane rabbits were frightened by a most tremendous noise.

"Isn't it an earthquake?" asked Mrs. Longears.

"No, my dear cousin," chuckled Mr. Hare. "It's only a trolley car rushing down street in front. The rabbit lady looked out the window and

U.S. Prohibition Force Recruited

Washington, July 1.—General Lincoln C. Andrews, chief of the prohibition forces of the United States, outlined his plans for reorganization of the dry arm to Secretary Mellon yesterday and assured him he would stick up to his post until that task was completed.

After two conferences with the Secretary just prior to his departure for London, Mr. Andrews said he had withheld his resignation until he had completed the reorganization.

"We are going ahead full blast," he said, "and I will be busy enrolling the 500 new men authorized by Congress. I have not resigned and will not consider such action until that task is completed. I think I can finish that work early in September."

GROWERS PLAN BIG FLOWER SHOW HERE

Spring Flowers to Have Special Display Next April, Horticulturists Decide

Plans for a mammoth Spring Flower Show to be held about the middle of next April, the first show of the kind ever held here, have been mapped out by a conference of leading horticulturists and flower experts.

This plan was suggested by E. M. Straight of the Government Experimental Farm at Sidney, who called yesterday's conference. His idea met with the enthusiastic support of the horticulturists, who believe that Vancouver Island needs a Spring flower show to display its famous Spring flora to proper advantage. Shows at other times of the year, it was explained, do not give the Spring flowers an opportunity for the best display.

The meeting decided to hold the show under the auspices of the Victoria and District Gardeners' Association, the energetic local body, whose flower shows have always been attended with remarkable success. Through this organization, the horticulturists will not only from Victoria but from Oak Bay Saanich and Esquimalt as well as from other parts of the Island, where Spring flowers are raised in abundance privately and commercially.

During the next few months definite plans for the show will be worked out by growers generally interested in it. Many growers who are handicapped by shows at any time of the year but in the Spring will exhibit their choicest blooms, at their best early in the year.

"The show will offer a splendid opportunity for the display of rock and Alpine plants, which are at their best in the Spring months," it was stated at the horticulturists' conference.

Victoria is famous for its collection of these plants but they are not seen at their best at shows in mid-Summer and Autumn. In the same way bulbs are not displayed to best advantage at Summer shows and grow in the Spring months, it was stated at the horticulturists' conference.

Mr. Straight, Dr. Warnock, Deputy Minister of Agriculture; J. C. Palmer of Cowichan Bay; P. R. Leighton, president of the Victoria and District Gardeners' Association; Richard Layritz, Mrs. Bastion, Capt. Matthews and John Hutchinson were among leading plant experts who addressed the meeting. E. M. Whyte, Albert acted as chairman and E. W. Foreign Legion, will not be held here today.

Indianapolis Has Street Car Strike

Indianapolis, Ind., July 1.—The strike called on Monday by Indianapolis street railway company employees who are members of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees, continued today, but apparently inconvenienced the public only slightly.

Union leaders insisted about half the company's force of 1,100 motor men and conductors were on strike, but the traction company said that during last evening's rush hour only thirty fewer cars were in operation as compared with 250 usually operated during the peak period.

The strike thus far has been without violence.

Longer Work Hours Opposed in Italy

London, July 1.—A dispatch to The London Daily Herald from Chiasso, Italy, asserts Premier Mussolini's attempt to enforce a nine-hour day is being strongly resisted, the workers threatening to revolt against the new decree and against the authority of the Fascist labor unions.

About 1,000 workers at Carrara, near Turin, went on strike, the dispatch says, when their employers tried to enforce the extra hour. Police and Fascist militia occupied the mills and arrested a number of the strikers.

Agricultural workers in the Molinella district are refusing to recognize the Fascist unions, the dispatch adds.

London Truth Gives Opinion on Canada's Politics

London, July 1. (Canadian Press Cable).—It is very much to be regretted, Truth, a London weekly publication, says to-day, that Lord Byng's successful "reign" in Canada should be closed at the end by his being involved in a constitutional squabble. Lord Byng seems to have been quite in order in refusing to grant dissolution when advised to do so by Right Hon. Mackenzie King, before the ministry had been actually defeated in the House of Commons, but he put himself in an awkward position when after that defeat he sent for the Opposition leader, without any security that he also would not be defeated within a few days.

Lord Byng did not appreciate the greediness of Canadian politicians for the advantage, as they figured it, of going to the "polls" and "out" but an error of judgment on the question of expediency is different from a breach of constitutional practice or principle, with which Lord Byng is now charged.

"The passions and manoeuvres of politicians seem much more to blame for the unpleasant controversy than anything," Lord Byng-General has done or has not done."

Big Sums Given In Liquor Fight

Washington, July 1.—John D. Rockefeller and his son, John D. Rockefeller Jr., have been named contributors to the Anti-Saloon League of the United States, while two women, Mrs. B. Van Gerbig, New Canaan, Conn., and Mrs. M. de Brabant, New York City, have given the largest sums to the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

This was disclosed to-day by a partial list of the dry organization contributors made public by the Senate campaign fund committee over the protest of Wayne B. Wheeler, and a full list of donors to the wet organization, which William H. Stayton, the national chairman, insisted should be spread upon the committee's records.

The Rockefeller have given $20,000 to the Anti-Saloon League since January 1, 1925, the date fixed by the committee for the start of the drive to get behind what it would not go in seeking donations to political or semi-political organizations. It is known, however, that this constitutes only a small part of the total they have given.

PREVENTION OF ANTHRAX

BY DR. HUGH S. CUMMING
Since anthrax is an infection which primarily occurs in the lower animals, and only sporadically, or as a result of accidental inoculation with the virus, in man, the fundamental method of attack on it consists in the veterinary control of the infection among animals.

The chief preventive measures as far as human anthrax is concerned, consist in the disinfection of all raw material used in the trades in which horse hair, hides, wool and other animal substances likely to harbor the anthrax germ are handled.

Workers in tanneries and hair and wool factories can get protection by wearing rubber gloves and aprons. Animals may be immunized against the disease, and the Pasteur method of vaccination is said to have been extensively employed with good results in France. The immunity thus conferred, however, is lost after a period of time, and revaccination becomes necessary.

Quarantine against infected areas and rigid disinfection of materials before they are placed in the hands of the workmen are protective measures that should always be employed.

From the viewpoint of the number of deaths resulting from anthrax, the disease is not so important as compared with many other infectious diseases, the largest number of deaths reported in any one year as due to that cause being sixty-two in 1917.

Although not important as a cause of death, anthrax occupies a more prominent place in the history of preventive medicine. The causative organism was the first disease-producing germ to be seen under the microscope and the first to be grown or propagated in pure culture.

The disease itself was the first to be experimentally transferred by direct inoculation of blood containing the infective germ and the first used to demonstrate the prophylactic value of the injection of a weakened virus. These were transcendental pioneer achievements in the modern sciences of bacteriology and immunology.

"You look tired out. Have a rest." "I daren't. My husband is addressing a meeting on the rights of men and if his supper isn't ready when he comes home I shall have a terrible time with him."

AT THE THEATRES

JANE NOVAK BEGAN CAREER AS DANCER BUT PICTURES WON

Jane Novak, who plays the role of Agnes Fanning in "Lazybones," the Frank Borzage production, now at the Columbia Theatre, is a native of St. Louis, Mo. Most of her schooling was obtained at the Convent of Notre Dame.

After leaving there she decided upon a stage career as a dancer, but her extreme youth and inexperience almost resulted in a "walking tour" instead of a dancing one. So she reluctantly abandoned the stage, temporarily, she thought then, to perfect her art and try again when a few years older.

However, through the persuasion of an aunt, Jane Novak was induced to go to Hollywood to try her luck in the motion picture. Her success, due to her distinctive and wistful type of beauty, was almost immediate and she soon was playing leading roles opposite such stars as Harold Lloyd, Robert Bosworth and William S. Hart.

UNREQUITTED LOVE PROVES PUNISHMENT FOR SCREEN VILLAINY

The reward of villainy is defeated romance—even in the movies, according to Ward Crane, prominent screen villain. Crane's latest picture appearance is in support of Conway Tearle and Barbara Bedford in "The Sporting Lover," now showing at the Capitol Theatre.

Although Crane has been in the films for years, he can't boast of ever having won the hand of a lady. His screen exploits have been so far from winning a woman's heart that he has been hurriedly to the heroes about the last quarter of the picture when Crane is shown in the picture as a "classified" Crane was the polished young gent with pointed mustaches who drove the fair Arthur Rankin. The scenes of the picture are laid in revolutionary Russia and are said to be intensely dramatic and thrilling.

LEADING DIRECTOR WORKED HIS WAY TO FAME IN SCREENLAND

When William A. Selzer, one of the screen's foremost directors of light comedy, signed a new long-term and highly lucrative contract with Universal during the production of "Rolling Home," he was remembered by the Dominion Theatre, he recollected, with some inward glee, his first introduction to the company.

Almost three years ago, Selzer, who is now showing at the Dominion Theatre, looking for a job, and with no idea how he could find it, or what it would be, Selzer, as an extra, for a time he at last became an assistant director on a company making two-reel comedies, and after long training, landed a comedy company of his own.

Leaving Universal, he directed for Thomas H. Ince, Hodgkinson, Robertson-Cole, First National, Warner Brothers, and other companies, and among the pictures he made were "The Beautiful and Damned," from the novel by Scott Fitzgerald, "The Little Church Around the Corner" and others.

HISTRIONIC POWERS OF CLARA BOW ARE PUT TO GREAT TEST

The test of an actress is the breadth of her histrionic powers—her ability to portray roles widely at variance. Clara Bow proves her dramatic worth in "The Ancient Mariner," Fox Film's version of the celebrated poem by Samuel Taylor Coleridge, now at the Playhouse Theatre. She plays a simple country school teacher, unacquainted with the evens and odds of modern world, a type which is the absolute antithesis of that in which she first won screen fame—the flapper.

"But I like this girl Dora Matthews," said Miss Bow. "She is very real in her emotional reactions and it gives me a rare welcome opportunity to get away from the so-called brainless flappers of modern society. I hope, too, that the public likes her, for I welcome more opportunities to play characters similar to her."

Miss Bow has the feminine lead.

FAMOUS ORCHESTRA BACK AT DOMINION

This week at the Dominion Theatre the management is again presenting Dwight Johnson and his orchestra. This aggregation of instrumentalists who made such a big hit here, some weeks ago, are this week presenting another superb programme of melodies, which according to the large ovation they received last evening bids fair to be the best they have offered. Among the many compositions played are: "The Song of India," a lilting lyric arranged specially by the band, from the famous song by Rimsky Korsakof, a special novelty fox trot entitled "Give Me a Kiss Will Ya Huh?" this number introducing a vocal refrain which the members of the band render. As a request number Rubinstein's famous composition "Kamini Ostrow" is also rendered in a highly musical and tuneful style that demonstrates the abilities of this wonderful orchestra. The orchestra will play twice daily, at 3.30 and at 8.30 in the evening. The feature presentation for this week is Reginald Denny in his latest laugh success "Rolling Home," a very entertaining musical and an interesting news reel which includes special pictures of the famous English Derby for 1926.

Russian Film "Volga Boatman" For Dominion

The charm of Gloria Swanson, plus a dash of Constance Talmadge's bubbling personality with something in her eyes reminding one of the late Barbara La Marr—thus does Cecil B. De Mille describe his latest candidate for stardom, Elinor Fair.

Miss Fair plays the feminine lead in "The Volga Boatman," which will be on view at the Dominion Theatre for six days beginning on Monday next. Miss Fair has an exceptional opportunity for an actress barely in her twenties, and predictions are made that she will scale the heights of motion picture fame as did Gloria Swanson, Leatrice Joy, Bebe Daniels, Wallace Reid, Rod La Rocque and others who had the benefit of training in the De Mille school.

Miss Fair first attracted attention in "The Miracle Man," in which she played the part of the crippled girl when she was hardly more than a child. Parts in "Kismet," "Driven," and "Through the Back Door" increased her ability and reputation, and then a series of pictures for Fox gave her her chance. De Mille saw her in a western production, and promptly sent for her. After exhaustive screen tests she was signed for "The Volga Boatman."

Konrad Bercowicz wrote "The Volga Boatman" for De Mille's purpose, and Lenore Coffee prepared it for shooting. The cast features Miss Fair, William Boyd, Victor Varconi, Julia Faye and Theodore Kosloff. Others in the cast are Robert Edison and Arthur Rankin. The scenes of the picture are laid in revolutionary Russia and are said to be intensely dramatic and thrilling.

"SWEET DADDIES" TO BE SCREENED AT PLAYHOUSE

Aggie Herring—there's a name to conjure with! It sounds more like a movie star than a melodramatist. Nevertheless, it is the name of one of Hollywood's most capable character actresses to be seen all next week at the Playhouse.

Aggie, who is seen in M. C. Levee's "Sweet Daddies," which has just been released by First National, was born in San Francisco and lived there a great many years. She was on the legitimate stage for twelve years, playing in stock. In her youth she was a famous ingenue. Her first film work was with William S. Hart and Frank Keenan.

Aggie is seen to good advantage in "Sweet Daddies." She was previously cast in Levee's spectacular film version of the famous story, "The Isle of Lost Ships," also released by First National.
